

ABOUT NUMBER ONE.

Tynan, Alias Percy, Alias Chaplin and Several Other Names, Still Under Cover.

NEW YORK, May 24.—It has been learned that Mr. Patrick Joseph Percy Tynan, the alleged "Number One" of the Dublin conspiracy, was known as Mr. Percy when he lived with Dr. Hamilton Williams at 106 Wilson street, Brooklyn. He was occasionally addressed as Mr. Chaplin also, and said one day that he had one or two other names. Dr. Williams arrived at the house from Europe about the 1st of February, and Tynan came the last of the same month. His letters came addressed to Mr. Percy. His family arrived later.

Constable William Jager, their landlord, says they had a great many visitors, with whom they held private talks. Dr. Williams and Mr. Tynan had violent discussions, of which Dr. Williams got the best, appearing to be in a position to dictate to Tynan. Dr. Williams did not appear to be rich. Tynan had plenty of money. After a while Tynan and his family went to live at Mrs. Stephen I. Simmons's house, 159 Wilson street. On April 27 they removed to South Brooklyn to a house in Adams street, Mr. Jager thinks. Mrs. Jager recognized a portrait of Tynan as a portrait of Mr. Percy, though she said he had cut off all his beard but a long goatee and had his hair cut close to his head since the picture was taken.

Dr. Williams lived at Mrs. Simmons's a year ago. He went abroad in December. She understood that he had been called suddenly to Italy. At the house in Adams street, to which it was supposed Mr. Tynan had removed, nothing could be learned of him. Letters for Mr. Percy have been delivered since May 1 at Dr. Williams' present residence, 403 Manhattan avenue, Greenpoint, opposite the house where Dr. Thos. Gallagher, now under arrest in London, formerly lived. Tynan still keeps under cover and provokingly reticent, although so many are dying for a glimpse of him.

Death of a Celebrated Cornet Player.

NEW YORK, May 24.—Matthew Arbuckle, the well-known cornet player and orchestral leader, died at his residence yesterday evening, of pneumonia, aged fifty-four years. He was born in Scotland, and joined the 26th Cameronians as a boy. He served in India and China with his regiment, and came to this country thirty years ago. He went to the war with the Twenty-fourth Massachusetts Regiment, and subsequently gave concerts throughout the country.

At Marshall, Mo., Miss Mary Jane Hurst, an old and much respected lady, aged about fifty years, was run over and instantly killed by the cars. She attempted to cross between the engine of the local freight and the disconnected part of the train following close behind, not being aware of the latter. Her body was terribly mutilated, presenting a most sickening sight.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

Rumors That the Bull Movement Has Begun—Only Rumors General Markets.

NEW YORK, May 24.—The strength of the New York stock market, which was manipulated yesterday, continued today, but it was of such a nature that correspondents to New York were at a loss what to advise. Upon every rally they have heretofore hastened to impart the information that "now is the time to buy, for the bull movement has begun," but to-day they were ominously silent. The fact is that nobody believes that there is any stability in the rise—that it is merely a rally to sell upon, and these correspondents know that it would be useless to try to get the public in and so won't waste their time. Business was not quite so large, but was quite important, sales aggregating $6,000,000. This was largely due to the covering of shorts, and when they have fully protected themselves, which will probably be soon, another decline will be in order.

The local money market was more active to-day, nearly all banks reporting an improved demand for loans, at the same time wishing it was greater, as the volume of loanable funds continues to increase, and they are abundantly able to meet much larger requirements. The increased demand to-day was cheerfully met at 6 per cent.
